Submission

12pm Friday 2nd March

This is the absolute deadline. Any workbooks submitted after this time will not be put forward for an award.

To avoid disappointment we strongly recommend that you have your workbook submitted or ready to submit in advance of this date.

Teams

We now have 23 teams across campus spanning both academic and non-academic departments. A full list can be found here.

Have you worked out your carbon footprint yet? Santa has here and you can too here!

Teams Get Ready to GO FOR GOLD!

Teams all around campus are getting competition ready and going for Gold. From Hazelrigg to Holywell Park, green initiatives are springing up and more look set to appear in the New Year. A number of teams have firmly got their eye on the Gold Prize so if you want to be in the running, get going!

Have a Sustainable Christmas!

Christmas, a time of goodwill and celebration, is accompanied by a large increase of around 3 million tonnes of waste in the UK each year.

Roughly 83 square km of wrapping paper will end up in UK bins this Christmas - enough to cover an area larger than Guernsey.

Royal Mail deliver around 150 million cards and packets EACH DAY with an estimated 1 billion Christmas cards ending up in the bin!

If you want to show some goodwill to the planet and have a more environmentally aware Christmas, consider some of the following tips visit the waste online website for further information on cutting down your waste.

Green Impact Workshops

Workshops are designed to look at specific criteria sets and provide you with more information regarding the topics that they cover as well as the opportunity to discuss topics with fellow teams and the sustainability team.

Workshops are designed to fit around your lunch hour and last no longer than 30mins. They will run from 12.10-12.40pm with tea and coffee provided from 12.05pm and will take place in the FM Building. Dates for future workshops are listed to the left.

Please sign up for workshops by emailing m.kelly3@lboro.ac.uk with 'GI Workshop booking' in the subject line. Please include the title and date of the workshop(s) you wish to attend in the email.
